

Megan Shin
&
William Pregmon

Megan and William met at Marywood University while they both were studying to become nurses. Their first official date was at Cantina Italiana in their favorite New England city- Boston. When they returned there together, William proposed.

The couple wed on August 13, 2011 at Stone Bridge Inn and Restaurant in Union Dale. They were married outdoors with 140 guests seated under white tents. After a morning filled with rain showers, a ray of sunshine burst through the clouds just as they were saying "I do." The special touch made them feel God was blessing them for marrying in His name.

Photos, food and announcements were all enhanced with personal touches by family and friends. Two of the bride's uncles created beautiful floral arrangements. The cousins of the newlyweds joined in post-reception karaoke. Many wedding guests stayed overnight at the Inn to extend the celebration into the following day. The reception, held both inside and outside on the decks and patio of the Inn, also served as a going away party before the couple moved from Northeast PA to their new home in Boston two weeks later.

They honeymooned in Venice, FL. Megan and William both work as registered nurses in Boston, MA, where they reside. ■

-Erika A. Bruckner

Photos: Jessica Davis Photography

